Nautica Watches breathes new life into the aviator watch with the Millrock collection.

This collection boasts a series of chronographs with unique displays. In place of traditional counters, timed minutes are shown by a linear display, timed hours are displayed in a circular sector between 4 and 5 o'clock, and timed seconds by the central sweep seconds hand. Additionally, the quartz movement displays a second time zone with a coaxial 24-hour scale on the hour display, the distinctive slide rule on the réhaut, and the date window between 1 and 2 o'clock.

The majestic tonneau case in satin-finish steel is secured by Allen screws, which are knurled just like the crown with its protection guards, as well as the base of the push buttons - one of them being a stop/start button which stands out in red. The technical look is completed with the canvas denim-style strap with leather underside.

Also available with a black dial and military green strap, or in an all-black version, Millrock is a watch with an urban spirit and is highly functional and suited for globetrotters.
